

Fact Sheet

Based on the power of the crowd and on artificial intelligence, TicketAlert.Me is a simple but efficient solution that helps you rule out avoidable parking tickets, everywhere in Canada and in USA. It has been conceived as a win-win-win platform: as a car owner, you earn points when you register, when you add your cars and when you refer friends. The more you refer, the more you cumulate points! When you report car incidents to help others dodge parking tickets and respect the law, you also earn more points.

The points can then be used to receive more SMS notifications concerning your registered cars, or you can donate them to an affiliated Non Profit Organization. These points will also be convertible to gifts or discounts from our partners (to come).

In addition to the license plate recognition function that will be soon available via the mobile app, the intelligent system will be your friend anywhere in Canada or USA by giving you the « risk score » of getting a parking ticket on a specific street. This score risk is calculated from the public data released by certain cities in North America.
